INTRODUCTION.

THE general Eſteem that Travellers have for Things that are Foreign, is in nothing more conſpicuous than with Regard to Building. We travel, for the moſt part, at an Age more apt to be impoſed upon by the Ignorance or Partiality of others, than to judge truly of the Merit of Things by the Strength of Reaſon. It's owing to this Miſtake in Education, that ſo many of the Britiſh Quality have ſo mean an Opinion of what is performed in our own Country; tho', perhaps, in moſt we equal, and in ſome Things we ſurpaſs, our Neighbours.

I have therefore judged, it would not be improper to publiſh this Collection, which will admit of a fair Compariſon with the beſt of the Moderns. As to the Antiques, they are out of the Queſtion; and, indeed, the Italians themſelves have now no better Claim to them than they have to the Purity of the Latin.

We muſt, in Juſtice, acknowledge very great Obligations to thoſe Reſtorers of Architecture, which the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Centurys produced in Italy. Bramante, Barbaro, Sanſovino, Sangallo, Michael Angelo, Raphael Urbin, Julio Romano, Serglio, Labaco, Scamozzi, and many others, who have greatly help'd to raiſe this Noble Art from the Ruins of Barbarity: But above all, the great Palladio, who has exceeded all that were gone before him, and ſurpaſs'd his Contemporaries, whoſe ingenious Labours will eclipſe many, and rival moſt of the Ancients. And indeed, this excellent Architect ſeems to have arrived to a Ne plus ultra of his Art. With him the great Manner and exquiſite Taſte of Building is loſt; for the Italians can no more now reliſh the Antique Simplicity, but are entirely employed in capricious Ornaments, which muſt at laſt end in the Gothick.

For Proof of this Aſſertion, I appeal to the Productions of the laſt Century: How affected and licentious are the Works of Bernini and Fontana? How wildly Extravagant are the Deſigns of Boromini, who has endeavoured to debauch Mankind with his odd and chimerical Beauties, where the Parts are without Proportion, Solids without their true Bearing, Heaps of Materials without Strength, exceſſive Ornaments without Grace, and the Whole without Symmetry? And what can be a ſtronger Argument, that this excellent Art is near loſt in that Country, where ſuch Abſurdities meet with Applauſe?

INTRODUCTION.

It is then with the Renowned Palladio we enter the Liſts, to whom we oppoſe the Famous Inigo Jones: Let the Banquetting-houſe, thoſe excellent Pieces at Greenwich, with many other Things of this great Maſter, be carefully examined, and I doubt not but an impartial Judge will find in them all the Regularity of the former, with an Addition of Beauty and Majeſty, in which our Architect is eſteemed to have out-done all that went before; and when thoſe Deſigns he gave for White-hall, are publiſhed, which I intend in the Second Volume, I believe all Mankind will agree with me, that there is no Palace in the World to rival it.

And here I cannot but reflect on the Happineſs of the Britiſh Nation, that at preſent abounds with ſo many learned and ingenious Gentlemen, as Sir Chriſtopher Wren, Sir William Bruce, Sir John Vanbrugh, Mr. Archer, Mr. Wren, Mr. Wynne, Mr. Talman, Mr. Hawkſmore, Mr. James, &c. who have all greatly contributed to adorn our Iſland with their curious Labours, and are daily embelliſhing it more.

I hope, therefore, the Reader will be agreeably entertained in viewing what I have collected with ſo much Labour. All the Drawings are either taken from the Buildings themſelves, or the original Deſigns of the Architects, who have very much aſſiſted me in advancing this Work: And I can, with great Sincerity, aſſure the Publick, That I have uſed the utmoſt Care to render it acceptable; and that nothing might be Wanting, I have given the following Explanation to each Figure.

AN EXPLANATION Of all the PLATES IN The First Volume.

S. Paul's Church, London, p. 3, 4.

THIS Noble Fabrick was begun by Sir Chriſtopher Wren, Anno 1672, and happily finiſhed by him, 1710. I have made two Plates, the Plan and Weſt Front; and did intend the Section, but was prevented by the Architect, who propoſed to publiſh it himſelf. I have omitted the Ruſticks and fluting the Columns in both Orders, to avoid the Confuſion of ſo many Lines in ſo ſmall a Scale. Here is a Ruſtick Baſement that carries two entire Orders, the firſt is Corinthian, 4 Foot in Diameter, with a plain Entablature; there is an Arcade all round the Building, that ſerves for Lights: The ſecond Order is Compoſite, proportionably diminiſhed with regard to the Inferior; here a very rich Tabernacle reigns throughout the whole Inter-Columnations, very like that excellent Model in the Rotundo at Rome, but with this difference, that in this the Pedeſtal is pierced, to give Light. A more particular Account is to be taken from the Deſign by the Scale and Compaſs, which would be too tedious in this Introduction. The whole Fabrick is performed in Stone, by thoſe excellent and judicious Artiſts, Mr. Edward Strong, Senior and Junior, whoſe conſummate Knowledge in their Profeſſion, has greatly contributed to adorn the Kingdom; and it's beyond Exception, that this is the ſecond Church in the World.

S. Peter's at Rome, p. 5, 6, 7.

I Thought it would not be improper to preſent the Curious with the Plan, Elevation, and Section of this Majeſtick Building; and the more that I dare ſafely aver, that it's the moſt correct, with reſpect to the Truth of Architecture, or Cleanneſs of Engraving, that was ever publiſhed; and the Reader may have the Satisfaction to view both, reduced to Britiſh Meaſure. The Criticks generally condemn the exceſſive Height of the Attick, which they confine to a third of the inferiour Column. That the Pediment, ſupported by a Tetraſtyle, is mean for ſo great a Front, which at leaſt would demand an Hexaſtyle; that the Breaks are trifling, and the Parts without any Proportion; that the great Body of the Church, projected by Carlo Maderno, has extreamly injured the Auguſt Appearance of the Cupola, which is very much loſt by being removed ſo far from the Eaſt Front, contrary to Michael Angelo's Deſign, who conformed the whole Plan to a Square, wherein he deſcribed a Grecian Croſs. But all agree, that the Width is noble, and the Cupola admirable: It was begun Anno 1513, and finiſhed 1640.

A new Deſign for a Church in Lincolns-Inn Fields, p. 8, 9.

THIS Deſign I made, at the Deſire of ſome Perſons of Quality and Diſtinction, when it was propoſed to have a Church in the Noble Square. The Plan is reduced to a Square and Circle in the Middle, which, in my weak Opinion, are the moſt perfect Figures. In the Front I have removed the Angular Towers, at ſuch a diſtance, that the great Cupola is without any Ambaraſs: Here is a regular Hexaſtyle that commands the Front, which, with the other Parts, are all in certain Meaſures of Proportion. I have introduced but one ſingle Corinthian Order, ſupported by a full Baſement, and finiſhed with an Attick and Balluſtrade. The Cupola is adorned with a ſingle Colonade of detached Columns; the whole is dreſs'd very plain, as moſt proper for the ſulphurous Air of the City, and, indeed, moſt conformable to the Simplicity of the Ancients. Done Anno 1712.

S. Philip's Church at Birmingham, p. 10, 11.

THIS Church is deſigned by the ingenious Mr. Archer; and is juſtly eſteemed a very beautiful Structure. Anno 1710.

The Banquetting Houſe at Whitehall, p. 12, 13.

THIS incomparable Piece was deſigned by the immortal Jones, as one Pavilion for that admirable Model he gave for a Royal Palace; and if this Specimen has juſtly commanded the Admiration of Mankind, what muſt the finiſhed Pile have produced? I hope Britain will ſtill have the Glory to acompliſh it, which will as far exceed all the Palaces of the Univerſe, as the Valour of our Troops and Conduct of our Generals have ſurpaſſed all others. Here our excellent Architect has introduced Strength with Politeneſs, Ornament with Simplicity, Beauty with Majeſty: It is, without Diſpute, the fineſt Room in the World, and was built Anno 1616.

The

The Queen's Houſe at Greenwich, p. 14, 15.

THIS is by the ſame Architect, and was a Place of Retirement for the Queen-Mother. I have made two Plates: The Plan is near a Square, being 116 Foot by 120; the Proportion of the Rooms are extream juſt; and the great Hall is admirable, making an exact Cube of 40 Foot. In the Front is a noble Ruſtick Baſement, which ſupports a beautiful and regular Loggio of the Ionick Order, finiſhed with a juſt Entablature and Balluſtrade round the whole Building, which was executed Anno 1639.

The Great Gallery in Somerſet Gardens, p. 16.

THIS Noble Arcade was taken from a Deſign of Inigo Jones, but conducted by another Hand: Some object, that the great Cornice is too camuſe, and that the Dreſs of the Windows have not Relief enough, which is only chargeable upon the Execution; but all agree, that the Proportions are juſt, and the Deſign excellent. I have neglected the Plan, being of little Uſe on this Occaſion. It was built Anno 1662.

Gunnersbury Houſe, near Brentford, p. 17, 18.

THIS Houſe was executed by Mr. Webb, Diſciple to Jones, from a Deſign of his great Maſter. I have made two Plates; the firſt is the Plan of the firſt and ſecond Floor; the Apartments are noble, regular, and commodious, the Rooms well-proportioned; the ſecond is the Front, which contains a large plain Baſement, ſupporting a handſome Corinthian Loggio. Some find the Inter-Columnation in this Hexaſtyle too open, and that to leave out the Freeze and Architrave of each ſide the Pediment, is a Licenſe not to be introduced without great neceſſity. It was built Anno 1663.

A new Deſign for the Duke of Argyle, p. 19, 20.

I Have inſcrib'd this Deſign to this illuſtrious Name, whoſe great Actions have filled the World with Surprize and Admiration; Ramellies and Tanniers are immortal. And as it's my greateſt Honour to receive my Blood from his Auguſt Houſe, I thought I could no where ſo properly conſecrate the firſt Eſſay of my Invention, as an eternal Monument of the deepeſt Reſpect and Gratitude. I have given two Plates: In the firſt are two Plans in a Square of 112 Foot; the Apartments of State are below, raiſed from the Court by 6 Steps which leads into the great Hall, making a Cube of 50 Foot, and has a Poggio within dividing the two Stories; from the Hall you enter the Salon, attended with two noble Apartments of State fronting the Gardens; all the Rooms are either upon the Square, the Diagonal, or other Proportions univerſally received: In the ſecond Story is a large Library, an Antichamber of each ſide, with double Apartments; over which are Mezonins, for accommodating the Family, illuminated by low Lanterns from the Leads, whereby the Majeſty of the Front is preſerved from the ill Effect of crowded Apertures. The ſecond is the Front, raiſed from the Plinth which ſupports the Ruſticks, adorned with a Compoſite Order of ¾ Columns, with a regular Entablature and Balluſtrade; the Windows are dreſs'd in the Palladian manner: And I have endeavoured to reconcile the Beauty of an Arcade in the ancient Buildings with the Conveniency of the Moderns, but muſt leave it to others to judge of the Succeſs. Anno 1714.

The firſt Deſign for Sir Richard Child, Bar. p. 21, 22.

THIS was intended for Wanſted, the Seat of Sir Richard Child, in a moſt charming Situation, where are the nobleſt Gardens now in the Kingdom: In this I was a little confined as to the Dreſs of the Windows, which are without Pediments, and ſeveral other Conveniences being wanting, the following Deſign was preferred.

The ſecond Deſign for Sir Richard Child, p. 23, to p. 27. incluſive.

THE firſt Plate contains the Plan of the principal Story, extended 260 Foot, raiſed from the Court by a large Ruſtick Baſement 15 Foot in Height: The Situation requiring this Height, to afford the State-Apartments a Proſpect to theſe excellent Gardens. You aſcend from the Court by double Stairs of each ſide, which land in the Portico; and from thence into the great Hall, 51 Foot long, and 36 wide, and in Height the ſame: This leads into the Salon, being an exact Cube of 30 Foot, attended with two noble Apartments of State, all fronting the Gardens. To the great Court are excellent Apartments for Sir Richard and my Lady, with great Conveniencies: And the whole Plan is cloſed with a decent Chappel in one End, and a handſome Library in the other: The Offices are below, equal to the Court, and Mezonins above. The ſecond is the Front, adorned with a juſt Hexaſtyle, the firſt yet practiſed in this manner in the Kingdom: The Order is Corinthian, and the Diameter 3 Foot, with its proper Entablature and Balluſtrade, adorned with Figures, and a Cupola. The third is the Section, and the fifth a Green-Houſe, but deſign'd by another Hand.

A new Deſign inſcrib'd to the Earl of Hallifax, p. 28, 29, 30.

AS this Noble Lord is the diſtinguiſhed Patron of the Muſes, the great Mecenas of our Age, I have preſumed to honour this Deſign with the Patronage of ſo great a Name, as a ſmall Evidence of my Gratitude, who have been honoured very early with his Lordſhip's Countenance, by encouraging my Labours. Of this I have made two Plates; the firſt is the Plan of the principal Story, extending 300 Foot, and 150 deep, raiſed from the Court by 6 Steps, which leads into a noble Hall, Tribune and Salon, with double Apartments of State to the Gardens: The ſame Apartments are repeated to the great Court; and the whole Plan is cloſed with a large Gallery in one End, and a Chappel, Library, and great Stair-Caſe in the other: What is of Diſtinction in this Diſpoſition, is, that the Bed-chambers are removed from interrupting the grand Viſto, and ſtill the State is preſerved in entring them when neceſſary; which I have not yet obſerved in any former Deſign. The ſecond is the Front where a large Ruſtico ſupports a Loggio with ¾ Columns of the Corinthian Order: Here the Windows are placed at due Diſtance, and free from that bad Effect we ſo frequently ſee when they are crowded, which deſtroys that Repoſe and Appearance of Strength, ſo neceſſary in Architecture. Done Anno 1715.

Burlington Houſe in Pickadilly, with the Duke of Kent's Pavillion, p. 31, 32, 33.

THE firſt Plate contains the two Plans of the following Fronts: The ſecond is the Front of Burlington Houſe: The third is the ſaid Pavilion in his Grace's Gardens in Bedfordſhire. Deſign'd by Mr. Archer, Anno 1709.

Montague Houſe, London, p. 34, 35, 36.

THIS great Houſe was built by the late Duke of Montague, in the French manner; the Apartments are very noble, and richly adorned. Here Monſieur la Fauſſe, Mr. Rouſſeau, and Mr. Baptiſt, have expreſs'd the Excellence of their Art. The Architecture was conducted by Monſieur Pouget, 1678.

Drumlenrig Caſtle in Scotland, p. 37, 38.

IS the ancient Seat of his Grace the Duke of Queenſbury, in the Shire of Dumfries: It was greatly adorned by the two preceding Dukes, with noble Gardens, and many other expenſive Decorations.

Marlborough Houſe, St. James's, p. 39, 40.

IS the Reſidence of his Grace in London; where are fine Gardens, and Proſpect over St. James's Park. The Deſign was given by Mr. Wren, Anno 1709.

Powis's Houſe, London, p. 41, 42.

THIS Houſe is built with the beſt Portland Stone, well executed; enriched with a Corinthian Pilaſtrade, beſides a conſiderable Attick and Baluſtrade, ſupported with a ruſtick Baſement; and was finiſh'd Anno 1714.

. Buckingham Houſe, p. 43, 44.

THIS is the Seat of his Grace the Duke of Buckingham, in a moſt admirable Situation, having the nobleſt Avenue in Europe, the Mall, and commands an entire Proſpect over St. James's Park. I have made two Plates: The firſt is the general Plan, where the Apartments are extreamly noble, richly furniſhed; here is a great Stair-Caſe, auguſt and lofty; here is a curious Collection of the beſt Painting, an admirable Piece of Statuary of Cain and Abel, by the famous Jean de Boulogn, with many other Rarities of great Value. In the ſecond is the Front, adorned with a Pilaſtrade of a Corinthian Tetraſtyle. The whole was conducted by the learned and ingenious Capt. Wynne, Anno 1705.

Stoke, in the County of Hereford, p. 45, 46.

IS the Seat of Mr. Auditor Foley, deſign'd and built by himſelf, attended with fine Gardens. Here Mr. Thornhill has expreſs'd his excellent Genius in Painting the Cieling of the great Hall, and many other noble Decorations. Anno 1710.

Kings-Weſton, in Glouceſterſhire, p. 47, 48.

IS the Seat of the Right Honourable Edward Southwell, Eſq; who is the Angaranno of our Age, to whom my Obligations are ſo deep, that to repeat the leaſt Part of them, would offend the Modeſty of my Benfactor. I have made two Plates: The firſt contains the Plans of the firſt and ſecond Floor; the Apartments of State are raiſed from the great Court by 12 Steps, which lead into a very lofty and ſpacious Hall, that riſeth the full Height of both Stories; from this you enter into the Apartments of State, very handſome and commodious; above is the Lodging-Story, with an Attick for the reſt of the Family: The ſecond Plate is the Front, adorned with an Hexaſtyle of a Corinthian Pilaſtrade; the Architecture is great, and maſculine; the Windows at proper Diſtance; and the whole Deſign ſufficiently demonſtrates the great Genius of the Architect, which was given by Sir John Vanbrugh, and finiſhed Anno 1713.

Lindſey Houſe in Lincolns-Inn Fields, London, p. 49, 50.

BElongs to the Right Honourable the Marquis of Lindſey, Lord Great Chamberlain of England, and is another Piece of Inigo Jones. I have made two Plates: In the firſt are the Plans of the firſt and ſecond Stories, which contain as much State and Conveniency as can be expected in a Line of 62 Foot: The ſecond is the Front, which has a ood ruſtick Baſement; from which riſeth a regular Ionick Pilaſtrade, including the principal, and an Attick Story: The Windows are well-proportion'd, gracefully dreſs'd, without Affectation. The Fabrick is cover'd with a handſome Baluſtrade; and, in a word, the whole is conducted with that Harmony that ſhines in all the Productions of this great Maſter, who deſign'd it Anno 1640.

Willbery in Wiltſhire, p. 51, 52.

IS the Seat of William Benſon, Eſq; invented and built by himſelf in the Stile of Inigo Jones, who, by this excellent Choice, diſcovers the Politeneſs of his Taſte: And as he is Maſter of the moſt refined Parts of Literature, has here expreſs'd a particular Regard to the nobleſt Manner of Architecture in this beautiful and regular Deſign, which was executed Anno 1710.

A new Deſign for the Earl of Iſlay, p. 53, 54.

AS this Noble Lord is Brother to his Grace the Duke of Argyle, who poſſeſſeth all the great Qualities of the Family, adorned with the brighteſt Endowments of Nature and Acquiſition, I have preſumed to skreen this Deſign with his Lordſhip's Name. Here are two Plates: The firſt contains the two Plans, in a Square of 76 Foot; the principal Story is raiſed from the Court by 6 Steps, which leads unto the great Hall 30 in Front, 40 deep, and 30 Foot high; behind this Hall is the Salon 30 by 24 Foot, attended with double Apartments of State; the Salon is 20 Foot high, and the reſt 18; here are no Bed-Chambers, this entire Floor being devoted to State: In the next Floor are two double Apartments, viz. Anti-Chamber, Bed-Chamber, &c. with a large Library over the Salon; above the other Apartments are Mezonins, for accommodating the Family, illuminated from the Leads. The ſecond Plate contains the Front, which has a large Ruſtico that ſupports a regular Ionick Colonade of 8 Columns, though expreſs'd in the Plan as Pilaſters: Here I have omitted to continue the Ruſticks, to entertain the Eye with ſome Repoſe; the Windows are proportion'd and dreſs'd in the Palladian Stile. Anno 1715.

Blenheim, from p. 55, to p. 62, incluſive.

THIS Noble Fabrick is the Seat of his Grace the Duke of Marlborough, in Oxfordſhire. In this Collection I preſent the Curious with all the Plans and Elevations, by the particular Direction of Sir John Vanbrugh, who gave the Deſigns of this Magnificent Palace. Here I am at a Loſs, how to expreſs my Obligations to this worthy Gentleman for promoting my Labours, in moſt generouſly aſſiſting me with his Original Drawings, and moſt carefully correcting all the Plates as they advanced. All I can ſay, falls infinitely ſhort of what I owe; and yet am afraid, what is already ſaid is much more than he will approve. The Manner is Grand, the Parts Noble, and the Air Majeſtick of this Palace, adapted to the Martial Genius of the Patron. The firſt Plate contains the Ground-Story, or Vaults: The ſecond the Principal, or Floor of State; where the Reader may, with great Eaſe, enter into a full Detail of the Whole by the Scale: The third is the general Front as you enter, making a Line of 490 Foot: The fourth is the Garden-Front: The fifth is the Elevation of one End; the other being anſwerable to it: The laſt is the general Plan. Here are noble Gardens; a ſtately Bridge, with an Arch 100 Foot in Diameter; with many other excellent Embelliſhments: But above all, the intended Paintings by Mr. Thornhill, the Modern Apelles, whoſe bright Pencil is only capable to tranſmit to Poſterity the Glory of the Britiſh Arms, whereof the Models are already made. It was built Anno 1715.

IS the Noble Seat of the Right Honourable the Earl of Carliſle, in Yorkſhire: The Plans, Elevations, and Sections, are all drawn from the Originals of the Architect. Sir John Vanbrugh, and by him moſt carefully reviſed. The firſt Plate is the general Plan, making a Line of 660 Foot, wherein all the Offices are expreſs'd. The ſecond is the Plan of the principal Floor, the Portico, Great Hall, and Salon, are extream Magnificent, richly adorn'd with Sculpture; the Painting by Signor Pilligrini; in the Dome is expreſs'd the Fall of Phaeton: The Apartments of State are very Noble, fronting the Gardens, with a Line of 300 Foot; the reſt is ſuited to Conveniency. The third Plate is the general Front. The fourth is the Front to the great Court. The fifth is the Garden Front; and the laſt is the Section. Here are excellent Gardens. Parks of great Extent, lofty Obelisks. And in fine, this Seat is truly worthy of ſo great and ſo liberal a Patron, which was built Anno 1714.

Chatſworth, from p. 72, to p. 76, incluſive.

IS the magnificent Palace of his Grace the Duke of Devonſhire, in Derbyſhire; which, for the Quality of Materials, Neatneſs of Execution, rich Furniture, and all proper Decorations, is ſecond to none in the Kingdom, and perhaps in Europe. I have given three Plans, and two Elevations: The firſt is the Plan of the Offices, with a ſpacious Court, adorned with two noble Arcades: Here is a Chappel, great Hall, and Stair-Caſe, extreme Magnificent. The ſecond is the Plan of his Grace's proper Apartment, very rich, where State is joined with great Conveniency; here is a noble Gallery, a Library, with a Collection of the moſt valuable Authors, and many excellent Original Paintings of the moſt celebrated Maſters. The third is the Plan of the principal Floor; containing the Apartments of State, which, indeed, are extreme Noble. The fourth is the Weſt Front, a very rich Piece of Architecture; the Terraſs is dreſs'd with Froſt-Work; from which is raiſed a large ruſtick Baſement, that ſupports an Ionick Order; and in the Middle a beautiful Tetraſtyle, covered with an enriched Pediment: The whole Front is dreſs'd with excellent Sculpture, and finiſhed with a regular Baluſtrade, adorned with Vaſes of an exquiſite Choice. The laſt Plate is the South Front, which is very fine, but not ſo rich as the former. The whole is performed in the beſt Stone, deſerving of the beſt of Patrons; and is the Invention of Mr. Talman, Anno 1681.

Mr. Johnſton's Houſe at Twickenham, p. 77.

THIS is the Seat of the Right Honourable James Johnſton, Eſq; which is regular, and commodious. The principal Floor is raiſed by 8 Steps from the Court, where you find a very handſome Hall that leads into the great Apartments. Here is an admirable Proſpect of the moſt charming Part of the Thames, where the Eye is entertain'd with a Thouſand Beauties, not to be conceived but from this Situation. The Gardens are extreme curious, the Plantations moſt artfully diſpoſed; and every thing contributes to expreſs the refined Taſte, and great Politeneſs of the Maſter. Deſign'd by Mr. James, 1710.

Sir Walter Yonge's Houſe, p. 78, 79.

THIS is the Seat of Sir Walter Yonge, Bar. in Devonſhire. I have made two Plates: The firſt contains the two Plans of the firſt and ſecond Story; in the firſt is the Floor of State, raiſed from the Court by 12 Steps, where you find very handſome Apartments well furniſhed. In the ſecond Story is the Chamber Floor, with proper Conveniencies. The ſecond Plate is the Front, which was executed Anno 1690.

Mr. Cary's Houſe at Rowhampton, p. 80, 81.

THIS is the Seat of Thomas Cary, Eſq; in Surrey; in a moſt agreeable Situation: The Apartments are well diſpoſed for State and Conveniency. The Salon is very Noble, and has an excellent Cieling, by Mr. Thornhill. But above all, the Humanity and Liberality of the Maſter deſerves to be tranſmitted to Poſterity. The Deſign was given by Mr. Archer, Anno 1710.

Greenwich Hoſpital, from p. 82, to p. 89, incluſive.

THIS Royal Hoſpital was at firſt intended by King Charles II. for a Royal Palace; but was given by King William and Queen Mary for the Relief of decay'd and diſabled Seamen, who had ſpent their Blood and Strength in the Naval Service. It is ſituated on the Bank of the Thames, 4 Miles below the Bridge of London, and is for Magnificence, Extent, and Conveniency, the firſt Hoſpital in the World. I have given four large Plates: The firſt is the general Plan of this ſtupendous Structure, which contains the State-Apartments, with great variety of Accommodation: The ſecond is the general Front, that commands a charming Proſpect of the River and adjacent Country: The third is a double Pavilion at large, which makes a Part of the preceding Front: And the laſt is the Return of the ſame Pavilion, flanking the firſt great Court as you aſcend from the Water. The Stile of Architecture is Great and Noble, executed by Mr. Webb, from a Deſign of his great Maſter Inigo Jones. Some are of Opinion, that the Attick over the great Corinthian Order is too high by the great Plinth, being juſt ſo much more than One third of the Column, which, probably, was changed from the Original Drawing. In the beſt Remains of Antiquity, we find great Variety in their Proportions: In the Triumphal Arch of Titus, the Attick has a full Third of the entire Ordonnance; in that at Benevento near the ſame; at Ancona a fourth; in that of Conſtantine the Attick has 4. 9. Parts of the Column; that of Severus is preciſely one Third: I ſhall leave it to better Judges to determine the Preference. But to return to the preſent Subject: Here the Ruſticks are introduced with ſo much Art, the Ornaments with ſo much Grace, the whole Diſpoſition is ſo Noble and Lofty, that, in the Opinion of many, it's one of the beſt Lines of Building in the World. There is ſo much to be ſaid on this copious Subject, that, indeed, it requires an entire Volume; and poſſibly I may, one Day, entertain the Publick with it. But here I can't neglect mentioning that excellent Cieling in the great Hall, by Mr. Thornhill, to his eternal Honour, and his Country: Here Foreigners may view with Amaze, our Countrymen with Pleaſure, and all with Admiration, the Beauty, the Force, the Majeſty of a Britiſh Pencil! rich in Invention, correct in Deſign, noble in Diſpoſition, in Execution admirable. 1715.

Thorsby Houſe, p. 90, 91.

IS the Seat of the Right Honourable the Marquis of Dorcheſter, in Nottinghamſhire. I have made two Plates: The firſt is a Plan, which entertains you with a noble Hall, a fine Chappel, a large Court, Apartments of State, and all other Conveniencies: The ſecond is the Front, extreme rich; performed by the ſame Hand that afterwards built Chatſworth. Here are beautiful Gardens; and all is worthy of ſo noble and great a Patron. It was built Anno 1671.

Stainborough, p. 92, 93, 94.

THIS is the magnificent Seat of the Right Honourable the Earl of Strafford, &c. in Yorkſhire. Of which I have made two Plates: In the firſt are the Plans of the firſt and ſecond Stories; the firſt is raiſed above the great Court by 12 Steps, which leads into a ſpacious Hall, and very large Apartments of State and Conveniency: The ſecond Plan preſents you with a noble Gallery, that takes up the entire Front in a Line of 180 Foot, and has the Height of the Principal and Attick Story; here the noble Patron is preparing a curious Collection of Painting, Sculpture, and other excellent excellent Decorations. The ſecond Plate is the Front of this ſumptuous Fabrick, raiſed with a large Baſement, where the Coins are bound with Ruſticks, which ſupport a rich Corinthian Pilaſtrade, that carries the Principal and Attick Story; the Order has a regular Entablature, a handſome Baluſtrade, adorned with Figures and Vaſes; the Windows are richly dreſs'd: The whole Architecture is after the Venetian Manner, performed in Stone; and all is agreeable to the Politeneſs, Quality, and Diſtinction of the Patron. Anno 1715.

A new Deſign for the Lord Percival, p. 95, 96, 97.

I Have inſcrib'd this Deſign of my Invention to this Noble Lord, who has univerſally encouraged all Arts and Sciences, and that of Architecture in a moſt particular manner. Here are two Plates: The firſt is the general Plan; the two covered Arches that join the Offices to the Houſe, are diſpoſed to receive Coaches, for Conveniency in wet Weather; the chief Floor is above, having a noble Salon in Front, and two fine Apartments behind. The ſecond is the general Front, making a Line of 245 Foot; the Body of the Houſe contains 120, which I have dreſs'd with the two moſt ancient Orders, the Dorick and Ionick, in a double Hexaſtyle; the firſt has 2 ½ in Diameter, the ſecond has 2 Foot; the firſt advanceth ½ from the Wall, and has but 8 Diameters in Height, which I thought the beſt Proportion to ſupport the Superiour Order, to which I give 9. The Arcade is equal to one half of the Hexaſtyle; the Pavilion extends 36, and has 30 in Height, including the Baluſtrade. I have left out all manner of Ruſticks and other Ornaments generally practiſed, purely to ſhew the Harmony of Proportion in the greateſt Simplicity. 1715.

The Lord Leimpſter's Houſe, p. 98, 99, 100.

THIS is the Seat of the Lord Leimpſter, in Northamptonſhire. Of which I have made two Plates: The firſt is the general Plan, including all the Offices, great Court, and Plan of the principal Floor; where are very noble Apartments, with great Conveniency. The ſecond is the general Front, with a ruſtick Baſement, which ſupports a Corinthian Pilaſtrade that carries two Stories: The Fabrick is finiſhed with an Attick, and all is performed in very good Stone; and is the ingenious Invention of Mr. Hawkſmore, to whom I am indebted for the Original Drawings of this Houſe, and many other valuable Pieces, for enriching this Work, which I could not in Gratitude conceal from the Publick: The Building was finiſh'd Anno 1713; with which I conclude this Firſt Volume.

GEORGE R.

WHEREAS Our Truſty and Well-beloved COLEN CAMPBELL, Eſq; Author of the Work, John Nicholſon, Andrew Bell, Wiliam Taylor, Henry Clements, Bookſellers, and Joſeph Smith, Mapſeller, of our City of London, have humbly repreſented to Us, That they have, with great Labour and Expence, prepared for the Preſs a Book, Entituled, Virtruvius Britannicus, or the Britiſh Architect; containing the exact Plans, Elevations, and Sections of the Regular Buildings, both Publick and Private, in Great Britain; with variety of New Deſigns. In Two Volumes. And have, therefore, humbly beſought Us, to grant them our Royal Privilege and Licenſe for the ſole Printing and Publiſhing thereof, for the Term of Fourteen Years. We being willing to give all due Encouragement to Works of this Nature, are graciouſly pleaſed to condeſcend to their Requeſt: And We do, therefore, by theſe Preſents, grant unto them, the ſaid Colen Campbell, John Nicholſon, Andrew Bell, William Taylor, Henry Clements, and Joſeph Smith, their Executors, Adminiſtrators, and Aſſigns, Our Royal Licenſe for the ſole Printing and Publiſhing the aforeſaid Book, Entituled, Virtruvius Britannicus, or the Britiſh Architect, for the Term of Fourteen Years from the Date hereof: Strictly forbidding all Our Subjects within Our Kingdom, and Dominions, to reprint the ſame, either in the like, or in any other Volume or Volumes whatſoever; or to import, buy, vend, utter, or diſtribute any Copies thereof, reprinted beyond the Seas during the Term of Fourteen Years, without the Conſent or Approbation of the ſaid Colen Campbell, John Nicholſon, Andrew Bell, William Taylor, Henry Clements, and Joſeph Smith, their Heirs, Executors, and Aſſigns, under their Hands and Seals firſt had and obtain'd, as they will anſwer the contrary at their Peril: Whereof the Commiſſioners, and other Officers of our Cuſtoms, the Maſter, Wardens, and Company of Stationers are to take Notice, that the ſame may be entred in the Regiſter of the ſaid Company; and that due Obedience be rendred thereunto.

Given at Our Court at St. James's, the Eighth Day of April, 1715, in the Firſt Year of Our Reign.

By His MAJESTY'S Command,

Ja. Stanhope.

N. B. In the Second Volume, what remains of INIGO JONES will be moſt carefully collected over the Kingdom, with the incomparable Deſigns he gave for WHITE-HALL; all taken from the invaluable Original Drawings of that Great Maſter; with the other moſt Regular Edifices.

AN EXPLANATION Of all the PLATES in the Second Volume.

White-hall, as Design'd by Inigo Jones, from p. 2, to p. 19. inclusive.

AFTER much Labour and Expence I have at last procured these excellent Designs of Inigo Jones, for White-hall, from that ingenious Gentleman William Emmet of Bromley, in the County of Kent, Esq; from whose Original Drawings the following 5 Plates are publish'd, whereby he has made a most valuable Present to the Sons of Art. In the First is the General Plan of the Piano Nobile, which contains 6 Courts; that next the Park is an exact Square of 245 Foot of each Side are two Squares of 250 by 125, being 2 Squares. The Middle Court next the River is 125 by 85, being a Diagonal; and the two Side-Courts this Way are 10 proportioned, that the Length and Breadth are as 5 to 3. So that here is a variety of excellent Proportions, and all the Apartments are disposed either for State or Conveniency, those to the River being most proper for the Summer Season, and those to the Park for Winter, having the South-West Sun. I have omitted the Ground Plan, which may be easily collected from this and the general Section. The second Plate is the Front to the Park, which is the Banqueting-House, with a Chapel corresponding to it: In the [illegible] is a noble Entry after the manner of a double Triumphal Arch: the Angles are terminated with two lofty Towers of an elegant Composition, and two Cupolas crown the Building. Our Architect has dress'd the Front with the Ionick and Corinthian Orders: In the third is the Front to the Thames, the Orders are Dorick and Ionick, as most proper for this Situation, with great Variety of the Venetian Windows; the Towers are the same as in the first and in the other Fronts. In the fourth is the Front to Charing-Cross, with a noble Dorick Arcade; the Superior Order is Ionick, and all the Ornaments are beautiful, graceful and significant; the Front to Westminster being the same is here omitted. In the fifth Plate is the general Section which discovers the three principal Courts, the great Piazzas, and height of the different Stories.

Covent-Garden, p. 20, 21, and 22.

I Have made one single and one double Plate of this noble Square, which for the Grandure of Design, is certainly the first in Europe. In the first Plate is the general Plan of the Piazza, the Plan, Section and West Front of that elegant Church, the only Piece the Moderns have yet produced, that can admit of a just Comparison with the Works of Antiquity, where a Majestick Simplicity commands the Approbation of the Judicious. In the double Plate are two Elevations of the great Piazza Westwards, and of the Church to the East; the Aspect is Antes, the Order is Tuscan, Tetrastile Areostile: The Rustick Arcade round the Square is of an excellent Composition, the Arches are 10 Foot wide and 20 high, the Piers are 4 Foot in Front, which is two Fifths of the Arch, and 8 at the Angles; above the Arcade is one grand Story and an Attick, the Windows are dress'd with a regular Entablature, in Width are equal to the Piers and two Diameters in height, the Attick Windows are under the Square. It were to be wished our Artificers would observe this just Proportion in Piers and Widows, which would prevent the Lanthorn Way of Building so much in Practice of late Years.

The Royal-Exchange, p. 23, 24, and 25.

THIS Structure was raised soon after the Fire of London, in the Year 1666, and however inferior to those Pieces of Inigo Jones, yet may very justly claim a Place in this Collection, being the most Considerable of this Kind in Europe; I have made one single and one double Plate: In the first is the Plan containing 205 Foot by 180; the second is the principal Front to Cornhill; in the Middle is a Piece of the Corinthian Order, with a very bold Arch, and two small ones of each Side; from this riseth a lofty Tower composed of 3 Orders. The Rustick Arcade in this Building is generally condemned by the Criticks, for having Piers but one fourth of the Arch, which renders it weak.

Bow Steeple, p. 26.

I Have brought the Plans, Section and Elevation of this Tower into one Plate, and of this Kind 'tis esteemed one of the best in the Kingdom.

A Design for a Church of my Invention, p. 27.

THE Aspect of this Church is, Prostile, Hexastile, Eustile, which by Vitruvius, Palladio, and the general Content of the most judicious Architects, both Ancient and Modern, is esteem'd the most beautiful and useful Disposition, being a Medium between the Pycnostile and Areostile, the first being too close and the last too open. The Order is Ionick, and in one Plate I have given 4 Designs: In the first is the Plan, where the Cella is 54 by 74, which is a Diagonal Proportion, the Side Walls are 6 Foot thick, and with 3 more for the 2 Columns amounts to 9 Foot, which is one Sixth of 54, and the whole Width being 72, the two Walls make one Fourth of the same. The second Design is the Side of the Church, where I have abstained from any Ornaments between the Columns, which would only serve to enflame the Expence and clog the Building. In those admirable Pieces of Antiquity, we find none of the trifling, licentious, and insignificant Ornaments, so much affected by some of our Moderns. The Ancients placed their chief Beauties in the justness of the Intercolumniations, the precise Proportions of the Orders and the greatneſs of Parts; nor have we one Precedent either from the Greeks or Romans, that they practiſed two Orders, one over another in the ſame Temple in the Outſide, even in the moſt conſiderable, much leſs to divide it into little Parts; and whereas the Ancients were contented with one continued Pediment from the Portico to the Paſſico, we have now no leſs than three in one Side where the Ancients never admitted any. This Practice muſt be imputed either to an entire Ignorance of Antiquity, or a Vanity to expoſe their abſurd Novelties, ſo contrary to thoſe excellent Precepts in Vitruvius, and ſo repugnant to thoſe admirable Remains the Ancients have left us. The third Deſign is the Front, where I have alſo abſtained from any unneceſſary Ornaments, the Door is dreſs'd after the beſt Models of Antiquity. The fourth is the Section, which ſhews the Elevation of the Inſide and manner of the Vaulting; the whole Height is 54, equal to the Width, and that being divided into 4 Parts, one of them determines the height of the Vault, and the 3 other Parts are given to the perpendicular Wall. In the Eaſt End I have made a Venetian Window, which will ſufficiently illuminate the whole Church; here I have practiced an Ionick Pilaſtrade with Niches, and over them enriched Compartments.

A on

York Stairs, p. 28.

THIS Gate was erected by the firſt Duke of Buckingham, when Lord High Admiral of England, Anno 1626, by Inigo Jones.

Cobham Hall in Kent, p. 29, 30.

WAS the Seat of the Dukes of Lenox and Richmond, now of the Lady Theodoſia Blyth and John Blyth Eſq; 'Tis a large ancient Fabrick, and has one Front by Inigo Jones, with a Corinthian Pilaſtrade, and an Attick of the higheſt Proportion and Baluſtrade; the great Hall is two Stories high.

Cholmondeley Hall in Cheſhire, p. 31, 32, 33 and 34.

IS the Seat of the Earl of Cholmondeley, of which I have made 4 Plates; the firſt is the general Plan of the firſt Story, being a large Quadrangle open to the North: The ſecond is the North Front dreſs'd with a Corinthian Pilaſtrade, and a proper Baluſtrade: The third is the South Front with the ſame Ornaments; and the laſt is the Weſt Front with ſix ½ Columns. The whole Fabrick was rebuilt and finiſhed in a ſumptuous manner in the Year 1715: Here are fine Gardens, and all is agreeable to the Magnificence of the noble Patron.

Eaton Hall in Cheſhire, p. 35 and 36.

THE Seat of Sir Richard Groſvenor Bart. in two Plates; the firſt contains the general Plan of the Offices and principal Story, which is very Handſom and Commodious; in the Plan one may obſerve a great Regard to State and Conveniency, the Size of the Rooms being judiciouſly varied, and generally the Rules of Proportion are maintained in all the Apartments: In the ſecond Plate is the Front of the Houſe and Offices, the Corners are dreſs'd with Ruſticks of a good Taſt, and the Fabrick is crown'd with a Cupola.

Belton in Licolnſhire, p. 37, 38.

THIS is the Seat of Sir John Brownlow Bart. in 2 Plates; the firſt contains the Plans of the two principal Stories, where are many very good Apartments, noble and convenient: The ſecond is the Front in which the Windows are handſomly dreſs'd with Architrave, Friſe and Cornice, and the whole Compoſition is regular; here are curious Gardens, a large Park, and many other Improvements, But above all the polite Literature, the great Civility, and uncommon Generoſity of the Patron deſerves to be tranſmitted to Poſterity.

High-Meadow in Glouceſterſhire, p. 39, 40.

THE Seat of Thomas Gage, Eſq; in two Plates; the firſt contains the Plans of the two principal Floors: The ſecond is the Front which has a noble Entry, the Windows are well dreſs'd, but the Piers are too narrow, and in the Wings the large Space from the Window to the Corner has a good Effect.

A New Deſign for Tho. Jenkyns, Eſq; p. 41, 42.

I Have inſcribed this ſmall Eſſay of my Invention to this ingenious Gentleman, whoſe Knowledge in the moſt polite Learning is equal to his extream Modeſty, in endeavouring to conceal what ſo many do falſly aſſume, and his particular Atachment to Architecture muſt draw a deep Reſpect from all that profeſs any Love or Eſteem for that uſeful and noble Art. In the firſt Plate is the Plan of the firſt Story, extending 120 Foot, here is the double and ſingle Cube, the Hall being 27 by 54; here is 18 by 27, which is the Seſqui altera, and 21 by 27, the Seſqui tertia, and you paſs gradually from the larger to the leſſer. Right againſt the Entry I have placed the great Pair of Stairs, which is free and ſpacious, and leads up to the principal Story which is the ſame with the firſt, excepting that the Salon which is over the Hall, is 27 Foot high and has two Degrees of Windows; the two pair of Back Stairs go from the Foundation to the Top, and will ſerve all the Apartments: In the ſecond Plate is the Front with a Ruſtick Baſement and two Orders of Pilaſters in the Theatrical, which admits of more Gayety than is proper either for the Temple or Palatial Stile.

Boddington Place in Surrey, p. 43, 44, 45.

IS the ancient Seat of Sir Nicholas Carew Bart. of which I have made 3 Plates; the firſt contains the Plans of the two principal Floors, where is a very noble Hall, in Height two Stories, and many large and ſpacious Apartments: In the ſecond is the Weſt Front dreſs'd with a Compoſite Pilaſtrade and other Ornaments: The third Plate is the Garden Front, and tho' more plain yet has a good Effect by reaſon of the large Solids between the Windows. The Houſe ſtands in a large Park, the Gardens are very curious and artful, the Orangery is eſteemed the beſt in the Kingdom; here is great Plenty of excellent Water, with Canals and Caſcades; and indeed every thing is truly worthy of ſo generous a Patron, who has ſpared no Coſt to rebuild and imbelliſh his Seat.

Mr. Hudſon's Houſe at Sunbury in Middleſex, p. 46.

I Have given the general Plan of the firſt Floor and Offices with the general Front in one Plate, the Apartments are handſom, the Furniture ſumptuous, and the Offices commodious; and tho' there is but little Ornament in the Outſide, the Materials being good and the Work well executed, it makes a fine Appearance: Here are fine Gardens with a charming Proſpect to the Thames; it was deſigned and conducted by Mr. Fort, Anno 1712.

Mr. Waller's Houſe in Beaconſfield, p. 47.

I Have alſo given the general Plan of the Offices and firſt Floor, with the general Front in one Plate; the Offices are joined to the Houſe, with a handſom Corridore of the Corinthian Order, deſigned by Thomas Milner Eſq; Anno 1712.

Mr. Rooth's Houſe at Epſom, p. 48, 49.

IN the firſt Plate you have the Plans of the firſt and ſecond Story, and in the ſecond is the Front, and tho' tho' but of small Extent, yet is most conveniently laid out and well finished.

Melvin House in Scotland, p. 50.

THE Seat of the Earl of Lewin; in this Plate I have given the Plan of the principal Story and Front; here is a very good Salon with two noble Apartments, with two convenient Back Stairs; it was designed by the most experienc'd Architect of that Kingdom, Mr. James Smith, Anno 1692.

Mr. Campbell's House at Glasgow, p. 51.

Daniel Campbell of Shawfield Esq; has built this House after my Design, in Glasgow, the best situated and most regular City in Scotland: The principal Apartment is in the first Story, the Staircase is so placed in the Middle as to serve 4 good Apartments in the second Story; the Front is dress'd with Rustlicks of a large Proportion, and a Dorick Cornice and Balustrade; the Garrets receive Light from the Roof inwardly; the whole Building is of good Stone and well finished, Anno 1712.

A New Design for a Person of Quality in Somersetshire, p. 52, 53, 54, 55.

THE first Plate presents you with the general Plan of the Offices and principal Floor raised 10 Foot above the Court, which lands in a Portico, from thence to a noble Sale and Salon, and of each Side a grand Apartment: The second Plate is the principal Front adorned with a Corinthian Tetrastile and Pediment: The third is the Garden Front, and the last is one End with a fine Venetian Window, with several other Embellishments, all designed by the learned and ingenious Sir John Vanbrugh, 1716.

Maiden Bradley in Wiltshire, p. 56.

IS the Seat of Sir Edward Seymour Bart. In this Plate I have given the general Plans of the two principal Stories both of the Offices and best Apartments, with the Elevation of the Fronts; the Windows of the first are well dress'd with Pediments, and the second have Windows with Architrave, Frieze and Cornice only: It was begun by the late Sir Edward, and finished by the present in a handsom manner.

Hampton Court in [illegible], p. 57, 58.

IS the ancient Seat of [illegible] Coningesby, built by Henry IV. King of [illegible] when he was Duke of Hereford, above 300 Years past, which is the oldest Building in this Collection: His Lordship has lately repaired it with great Expence and Magnificence; here are 7 very noble Apartments richly furnished, with many convenient small ones; here are also fine Gardens, a large Park, a well stock'd Decoy, and all other Advantages both for Pleasure and Conveniency, and truly worthy of so noble and polite a Patron.

Shobden Court in Herefordshire, p. 59, 60.

THE Seat of Sir James Bateman, Bar. Lord Mayor of London, of which I have made two Plates; the first contains the Plan of the principal Floor, where is a lofty Hall, in height 2 Stories, and 4 good Apartments: The second is the Front with Rustick Corners and a Pediment: Sir James is now improving his Gardens and Plantations, with many other Embellishments, as lasting Monuments of his Magnificence.

Wilton, from p. 61 to p. 67, inclusive.

THIS is the ancient Seat of the Earls of Pembroke and Montgomery, begun in the Reign of Henry VIII. The great Quadrangle was finished in the Time of Edward VI. and the Porch was design'd by Hans Holbin. The Hall Side being burnt about 12 Years ago, was rebuilt by the present Thomas Earl of Pembroke, then Lord High Admiral of England, in a very noble and sumptuous Manner. The other Parts rebuilt by the first Philip Earl of Pembroke, who was Lord Chamberlain, being all designed by Inigo Jones, and finished by him in the Year 1640, are what I have here published, 1 double and 5 single Plates. In the first are the Plans of the two principal Floors, with the Garden Front 194 Foot long, which is justly esteemed one of the best Pieces of that great Architect: 'Tis universally acknowledged that the grand Apartment is one of the noblest Architecture has yet produced, particularly the Sale and Salon, whole Sections I give in the following Plates. In the first you have the Section of the Sale, long 60 Foot, high 30, and in Breadth the same; in one end of the Room is the celebrated Family Picture by Vandyke, 20 Foot long and 12 high, containing 13 Figures as big as the Life, which rather appear as so many real Persons than the Production of Art, and all the other Pictures in the Section are of the same incomparable Hand; in the second Plate is first the Section of the same Room towards the great geometrical Stair-Case, the first of this kind in the Kingdom, with a rich and magnificent Door-Case; in this Plate is also the Section of the Salon, which is a Cube of 30 Foot: In both these Rooms, and in most of the other Apartments, are Marble Chimney Pieces of the most exquisite Work and most elegant Composition I have seen in the Kingdom, all carved in Italy and brought over by the first Philip Earl of Pembroke, with many curious Statues, Basso Relievo's, and other things of Marble, and Pictures of the most famous Masters. The third is the Loggio in the Bowling-Green, with an Ionick Arcade; the Pilasters are most beautifully rusticated, and the Design is enriched with Niches and Statues: In this Plate also is the Grotto, the Front being curiously carved without, and all Marble within, having black Pilars of the Ionick Order, with Capitels of white Marble and 4 fine Basso Relievo's from Florence. In the same Plate is 1 Side of a Rustick Ionick Door in the Garden whereof there are 2 fronting each other two ways. The fourth is the Stables disposed in a very handsome Manner. The fifth is a Rustick Gate, which may serve for a Model to direct our Workmen on the like Occasion; the Columns frosted on each side this Gate are on the Stable-Bridge. There remains so much to be said of this charming Place, that to give a true Account of it would require an entire Volume of a much more artful Pen; but I hope this will be accepted of by the candid Reader as sufficient from me till I publish my Third Volume in Perspective, where I intend a more ample Description.

Longleate, in Wiltshire, p. 68, 69.

THE Seat of the Right Honourable the Lord Viscount Weymouth, founded by Sir John Thynne, the great Restorer of that ancient and honourable Family, in the Reign of Edward the Sixth, and of this Date, is esteemed to be the most regular Building in the Kingdom, being above 160 Years ago. In one double Plate I have given first the Plans of the two principal Floors, where is a noble Hall in Height two Stories, the Apartments are numerous, large and sumptuous: in the third Story, not here designed, is a spacious Gallery, and in the same Line a very curious Library, in all 220 Foot long, besides 4 handsome Apartments in the Gallery. In the Library is an excellent Collection of the best Authors of the most correct Editions, with many rare and valuable Manuscripts. The Front is of a large Extent, being 220 Foot long, and adorned with three Orders of Pilasters, the Dorick, Ionick, and Corinthian, with their proper Pedestals; the Proportions of each Order, their Intercolumnation and gradual Diminution is duely observed, and the Fabrick is crowned

crowned with a handſome Baluſtrade, ſeveral Cupola's and Statues, erected by the late Lord; who alſo greatly adorned this Seat by the noble Gardens, Fountains, Canals, perpetual Caſcades, curious Plantations, and many other magnificent Monuments of his Grandeur.

Cliefden Houſe, in Buckinghamſhire, p. 70, 71, 72, 73, and 74.

THE Seat of the Right Honourable the Earl of Orkney, founded by the late Duke of Buckingham, but greatly improved and adorned by the preſent noble Patron, who after the dangerous Fatigues of thirty Campaigns, (forſan & hæc olim meminiſſe juvabit,) with immortal Honour to himſelf and Country, has now the Pleaſure of this delightful Retreat, when the Buſineſs of his King and Country does not call for his Service. I have made one ſingle and two double Plates; in the firſt is the general Plan of the Offices and firſt Story, the Apartments are noble, richly furniſhed, and commodious. Here is one of the moſt conſiderable Terraſſes in the Kingdom, being 24 Foot above the Parterre, and is as high as the Level of Windſor Caſtle, and is 433 Foot long, adorned with a curious Baluſtrade of Portland Stone; under the great Court in Front are arched Corridores that communicate from one ſide of the Offices to the other: a thing of great Uſe and Conveniency: Here is alſo a curious Grotto, with a great Number of large and ſpacious Vaults, and many other ſubterraneous Conveniencies. The ſecond and third Stories contain many fine Apartments magnificently furniſhed. The ſecond Plate is the chief Front to the North, having the Offices joined to the Houſe by Corridores of the Ionick Order, deſigned by Mr. Archer. The third Plate is the South Front with the fore-named Terraſs, which affords one of the moſt beautiful Proſpects in the Kingdom.

Hopeton-houſe, in Scotland, p. 75, 76, and 77.

IS the Seat of the Right Honourable the Earl of Hopeton. The Deſigns were given by Sir William Bruce, who was juſtly eſteem'd the beſt Architect of his time in that Kingdom; it was begun about the Year 1698, and finiſhed four Years after. I have made one ſingle and one double Plate; the firſt contains a general Plan of the Offices and firſt Story, where is a Portico, Hall, and 4 very handſome Apartments; in the middle is a Geometrical Octagon Stair-Caſe, which leads up to the ſecond Story, and over the Hall is a noble Salon and the ſame Number of Apartments as below, and all well finiſhed and ſumptuouſly furniſhed. The ſecond Plate gives the general Front of the Houſe and Offices, the whole being executed in very good Stone; the Windows are well-proportion'd and handſomely dreſt, the Façade is ruſticated in the French Manner, and finiſhed with Rail and Baluſtrade, Statues, Vaſes, and a Stone Cupola over the great Stair-Caſe.

Lowther Houſe, in Weſtmorland, p. 78, 79, and 80.

THE Seat of the Right Honourable the Lord Viſcount Lonſdale, in 1 ſingle and 1 double Plate. The firſt is the general Plan of the Offices and principal Story extending 337 Foot; here are ſtately Apartments, Coridores, large Galleries, a noble Library and Chapel. In the ſecond Plate you have the general Front, in Height three Stories: the Windows of the middle Story are dreſt with Pediments in a very handſome manner; the Fabrick is finiſhed with a Baluſtrade, Figures and Vaſes, and a large Pediment at each End, which has a good Effect: Here are fine Gardens, a noble Park, and many other uſeful and magnificent Improvements, anſwerable to the Grandeur of ſo noble and generous a Patron.

Braman Park, in Yorkſhire, p. 81 and 82.

THE Seat of the Right Honourable the Lord Bingley. In one double Plate is firſt the general Plan of the Principal Story extending 240 Foot, including the Pavilions. The flooping Terraſs leads up to the grand Floor, where is a noble Hall an exact Cube of 30 Foot, moſt artfully decorated, and all the Apartments are ſpacious and convenient; above is an Attuk Story for the Family, and two Stair-Caſes that are very well illuminated by raiſing the inward Walls above the Leads. The Front is of an elegant tho' plain Manner, with a regular Cornice and Baluſtrade; the Pavilions are joined to the Houſe with two Tuſcan Colonades. Here are curious Gardens laid out with great Judgment, and all the other additional Improvements were happily finiſhed by the noble Patron, Anno 1710.

A new Deſign inſcribed to Mr. Walpole. p. 83 and 84.

IN this Deſign of my Invention, I have endeavoured to introduce the Temple Beauties in a private Building. The Plan of the principal Houſe is a Square of 100 Foot. In the Ground Story, which is 20 Foot high, the Hall under the Salon is divided with 4 Columns both to ſupport the Floor and Proportion the Room: The Plan deſcribed here is that above, to which you aſcend by a double Stair-caſe without, which leads into a noble Salon, being a Cube of 40 Foot; here are four Apartments, and over them is the Bed-Chamber Floor: The Offices are joined to the Houſe by 2 Galleries; the Towers are 40 Foot each, and the Galleries 60 Foot, ſo that the whole Extent is 300, the Houſe making one third. In the Front you have a large Ruſtick Baſement, which ſupports an Octaſtyle of the Compoſite Order, where a lofty Pediment covers the entire Fabrick: The Towers are ſet at a convenient Diſtance, and are dreſt with a Tuſcan Arch and Attick; in one you have the Chapel, &c. and in the other a Library, &c. What is moſt remarkable in this Deſign is, that it has the Appearance of a large and magnificent Structure, when in Effect it is of a moderate Bigneſs, being no more than a Square of 100 Foot.

Chevening Houſe in Kent, p. 85.

THIS was the Seat of the Right Honourable the late Earl of Suſſex, now of the Right Honourable James Stanhope, Eſq; principal Secretary of State. In this Plate I have given the Plans of the 2 Principal Stories, where the Apartments are very good and the Rooms large and well-proportion'd; the Windows in the Front are regular and dreſt with a proper Architrave Friſe and Cornice; over the ſecond Story are Attick Windows, and a regular Entablature crowns the whole Building, and is ſaid to be deſigned by Inigo Jones.

A new Deſign inſcribed to Mr. Secretary Stanhope. p. 86.

IN this Eſſay of my Invention I have given the two principal Plans; in the firſt is a Cube of 30 Foot, with a large Apartment on each ſide, in which is a Variety both of Size and Proportions; in the middle is a handſome Stair-Caſe, with Light from above, and behind it a Garden-Room; in the ſecond Plan are 4 Apartments and a convenient Library; on each ſide is a circular Pair of back Stairs, and above this is an Attick Story for the Family. The Front is richly dreſt with a large Corinthian Colonade of 12 Columns, and a leſſer Pilaſtrade of the ſame Order to diſtinguiſh the two Stories; at the two Angles are 2 ſmall 4 Columns which ſupport a Mars and Pallas, as Palladio has done in the Palace of Vilmarana at Vicenſa, whoſe Example I think a ſufficient Authority.

Sir

Sir Charles Hotham, Bart. his Houſe at Beverly in Yorkſhire, p. 87.

AT the Deſire of this worthy Gentleman I gave the following Deſign, who in Harveſt laſt laid the Foundation of it and finiſh'd the Vaults, and intends this Summer to cover in the Houſe with Lead. It being a Cube of 56 Foot, here are the Plans of the two Principal Stories. The firſt is 14, the ſecond is 13, and the third is 11 Foot high; the Proportions of each Room are all exactly figured in the Plate. In the Front the Windows of the firſt Story have Pediments, the next have Architrave Friſe and Cornice, and the third has Attick Windows, all regularly dreſt, and at proper Diſtance, an Obſervation never to be neglected: Here is alſo a handſome Ionick Porch; All the Ornaments are of Roch Abby Stone, being eſteemed the beſt in the Kingdom; the Fabrick is crowned with a regular Cornice and Baluſtrade: The Offices are joined to the Houſe by a Ruſtick Arch of each ſide, which, in my weak Opinion, has no ill Effect; and upon the whole I have endeavoured to render it worthy of ſo generous and honourable a Patron.

Cheſter-Lee-ſtreet in the Biſhoprick of Durham, p. 88.

THE Seat of John Hedworth, Eſq; for whom I made this Deſign. In this Plate you have the general Plan of the Principal Floor, extending 128 Foot, of which the main Houſe has 64 and 48 Foot deep; the other half is equally divided between the Offices of each Side: The Front is South, and the North Proſpect not being very favourable, is the Reaſon why I have made no Windows in that Side but to the two Stair-Caſes; the Windows in the firſt Story are without Pediments, the better to ſet off that of the Door-Caſe, but I have uſed them in the ſecond Story: There being ſufficient Space from the Windows to the Coines, I have dreſt them with large Ruſticks of different Lengths, as moſt proper to expreſs the true Office of thoſe Stones, which is to croſs-bind the Angles, and not as the French and ſome others have introduced them, of the ſame Extent in Place of Pilaſters. The Roof is flat with Cornice and Baluſtrade.

A new Deſign inſcribed to the Secretary Methuen, p. 89 and 90.

I Have made two Plates of this Deſign: In the firſt are the Plans of the two Principal Stories; the firſt is raiſed 6 Foot above the Court, where is a ſpacious Hall of 60 by 30 Foot, and in Height 21; but to preſerve a due Proportion, as I have often obſerved, 'tis ſubdivided by 4 Columns into three Parts, ſo as the middle becomes a Square: In this Story are 4 very good Apartments all exactly figured, and two Pair of winding Stairs. The great Pair of Stairs lead up to the Piano Nobile, where is a lofty and ſpacious Salon of the ſame Extent as the Hall below, but has 30 Foot in height, which makes two Cubes, here are 4 very handſome Apartments both for State and Conveniency, and the whole Extent of this Plan is 100 by 70 Foot. In the ſecond Plate you have the Front in the Theatrical Stile, with a Ruſtick Baſement ſupporting two and in the middle three Orders to give a ſufficient height to the Salon, over all the ſmall Rooms next the Back Stairs are Interſoles.

High Wittham in Somerſetſhire, p. 91, 92.

THE ancient Seat of Sir William Windham, Bart. in two Plates: Firſt the general Plan of the principal Floor where is a noble and ſpacious Hall, with many large and handſome Apartments, and when the whole Deſign is finiſhed, there will be abundance of State and Accommodation. In the ſecond Plate is the Front to the Gardens, with a Compoſite Hexaſtile, which makes a beautiful Portico, to the Court; the reſt of the Front is adorned with a Piaſtrade of the ſame Order, over which is an Attick and Cupola, and many other Decorations that ſufficiently expreſs the Magnificence of the generous Patron. Anno 1717.

Dyrham Houſe in Gloceſterſhire. p. 91, 93.

THE Seat of William Blathwayt, Eſq; Firſt I have given the general Plan of the principal Story, which is very large and convenient, with a Variety of very good Apartments. In the ſecond Plate is the Garden Front extending 130 Foot; the firſt Story is entirely ruſticated, and the Coines to the Cornice. In the ſecond Story the Windows are dreſt with alternate Pediments, over which are Attick Windows, which is finiſhed with a handſome Cornice and Baluſtrade, adorned with Trophies and Vaſes of an excellent Choice; and the learned Patron has ſpared no Expences in leaving ſuch laſting Monuments of his Liberality. The Deſign was given by the ingenious Mr. Talmen, Anno 1698.

Newbold-Hall in Warwickſhire, p. 94.

IS the Seat of Sir Fullwar Skipwith, Bart. In this Plate I have deſigned the Plans of the two principal Stories; in the firſt is a ſpacious Hall in Height two Stories, with many large and convenient Apartments; in the Front the Coines are ruſticated after the French manner, and finiſhed with a regular Cornice, Baluſtrade, and other proper Ornaments. Anno 1716.

Althrop in Northamptonſhire, p. 95, 96, 97.

THE Seat of the Right Honourable the Earl of Sunderland, of which I have made 1 ſingle and 1 double Plate. In the firſt are deſigned the Plans of the two principal Stories, where are great Variety of noble and ſpacious Apartments, extending 140 Foot in Front, and deep 180. Here is a very large Stair-Caſe, and in the ſecond Story a moſt magnificent Gallery 120 Foot long, richly adorned with many excellent original Pieces of the moſt celebrated Painters, particularly of Vandyke. Here is alſo a moſt curious and valuable Library, and the whole is finiſhed and adorned in a very ſumptuous Manner, anſwerable to the Magnificence of the noble Patron. In the ſecond Plate I have deſigned the principal Front, which is dreſt with two Orders of Pilaſters, the Corinthian and Compoſite, and which are continued round the whole Building; the ſecond Order is remarkable in having no Architrive or Friſe, but only a Cornice, over which is a Baluſtrade. It was built by the late Earl, in the Year 1688.

A new Deſign inſcribed to the Lord Cadogan, p. 98, 99, and 100.

OF this Eſſay of my Invention I have made 1 ſingle and 1 double Plate. In the firſt I have given the Plans of the two principal Stories, being 180 Foot in Front and 150 deep; the firſt Floor is raiſed above the Court by 4 Steps, which leads into a Hall 44 Foot ſquare and 24 Foot high, but divided as in my other Deſigns, with 4 Columns; here are 4 large Apartments, and over the ſmall Rooms are Interſoles. In the middle is the great Stair-Caſe 44 Foot Square, with a Corridore round of 10 Foot, which is of ſingular Uſe to the whole Houſe in paſſing from one Apartment to another. In the ſecond Story, which is the Piano Nobile, is firſt a Salon an exact Cube of 44 Foot, with a very noble Apartment of each Side; to the Garden Front is a large Gallery 110 Foot long, 30 broad, and in the Height the ſame, with a great Apartment at each End; here are convenient Back Stairs and an Attick Story for the Family. The Front is in the Pallatial Stile, where a large Ruſtick Baſement ſupports an Ionick Colonade of 8 Columns 4 Foot Diameter, and in Height 36. I have returned the Angles with Pilaſters to ſtrengthen the Coines, the Fabrick is crowned with a regular Entablature and Baluſtrade, and with it I finiſh this Second Volume.

AN

EXPLANATION

Of ALL the PLATES

In the THIRD VOLUME.

Greenwich Hoſpital in Perſpective, p. 3, and 4.

I Have ſaid ſo much of this noble Structure in my Firſt Volume, that I ſhall add nothing at preſent, but to aſſure the Readers, that the Perſpective is raiſed from the Geometrical Plan and Elevation according to the moſt exact Rules of that lineary Art.

Caſtle Howard in Perſpective, p. 5, and 6.

THIS Seat being alſo ſo fully deſcribed in the Firſt Volume, I thought nothing could be further wanting to give a perfect Idea of the Place, but an accurate View of the ſame in Perſpective.

Ambresbury, p. 7.

IS the Seat of the Right Honourable the Lord Carleton, in Wiltſhire. This Houſe was deſigned by Inigo Jones, and executed by Mr. Webb. Here is a bold ruſtick Baſement, which ſupports a regular Loggio of the Compoſed Order. In one Plate I have given the Plans of the Firſt and Second Story, with the principal Front. The great Staircaſe is remarkable here for having a little one in the Middle of it. Anno 1661.

Caſtle Aſhby, p. 8.

IN Northamptonſhire, the Seat of the Right Honourable the Earl of Northampton. The greateſt Part of the Caſtle is very antient; but in the Reign of King Charles I. Inigo Jones was imployed to rebuild it, and finiſh one Front; but the Civil Wars put a Stop to all Arts, 1642. when that valiant Earl was ſlain at Salt Heath near Stafford. In this Plate I have alſo given Two Plans, and that Front by Inigo Jones.

Stoke Park, p. 9.

THE Seat of Mr. Arundel in Northamptonſhire. This Building was begun by Inigo Jones; the Wings, and Collonades, and all the Foundations, were made by him; but the Front of the Houſe was deſigned by another Architect, the Civil Wars having alſo interrupted this Work. In one Plate I have given both a general Plan and Front 1640.

General Wade's Houſe, p. 10.

IN great Burlington-Street, London. This beautiful Deſign is the Invention of the Right Honourable the Earl of Burlington, who is not only a great Patron of all Arts, but the firſt Architect. His Lordſhip's learned Labours in this Art, which are now preparing for the Publick, will give a much juſter Idea of his conſummate Knowledge in Architecture, than any thing I am capable to ſay. In one Plate you have Two Plans, and the principal Front 1724.

Grimſthorpe, p. 11, 12, 13, and 14.

IN Lincolnſhire, the Seat of his Grace the Duke of Ancaſter and Keſteven. Of this I have made Four Plates, the Firſt is the Plan of the Firſt or principal Story, where all the Apartments are exactly figured. In the Second Plate you have the Front to the Court; in the Third, the Garden Front, adorned with a magnificent Corinthian Portico; and in the Fourth, you have the Weſt Front the Eaſt Front being the ſame. All deſigned by Sir John Vanbrugh, Anno 1724.

Eaſtbury, p. 15, 16, 17, 18, 19.

IN Dorſetſhire, the Seat of the Right Honourable George Doddington, Eſquire, in Five Plates. The Firſt contains an exact Plan of the Gardens, deſigned and finiſhed by the ingenious Mr. Charles Bridgeman. In the Second, you have the general Plan of the Houſe and Out-Offices, with a Table of References. In the Third Plate, an Elevation of the principal Front, with a ruſticated Portico of the Dorick Order. In the Fourth, the Plan and Elevation of the great Portico, placed at the End of the Garden facing the Houſe. The Portico is Corinthian Hexaſtile. The Columns 3 Feet Diameter, the moſt magnificent of its Kind in England. The Fifth contains the Plan and Elevation of the Bagnio in the Garden, fronting the Bowling Green. All deſigned and executed by Sir John Vanbrugh, Anno 1718.

Seaton Delaval, p. 20, 21.

IN Northumberland, the Seat of Francis Delaval, Eſquire, in Two Plates. In the Firſt, I have given the general Plan of the Houſe and Out-Offices, with the North Front of the Houſe to a larger Scale. In the Second, you have the South Front, where is a noble Portico of the Ionick Order Tetraſtile, the Columns 3 Feet Diameter. All deſigned and executed by Sir John Vanbrugh, Anno 1720.

Burlington Houſe in Piccadilly, London, p. 22, 23, 24, 25, 26.

THE following Deſigns of my Invention are contained in Two ſingle, and one double Plate. In the Firſt you have the general Plan of the Houſe and Offices; the Stables were built by another Architect before I had the Honour of being called to his Lordſhip's Service, which obliged me to make the Offices oppoſite, conformable to them. The Front of the Houſe, the Conjunction from thence to the Offices, the great Gate and Street Wall, were all deſigned and executed by me. In the double Plate you have the principal Front, where a bold ruſtick Baſement ſupports a regular Ionick Collonade of 4 Columns 2 Feet Diameter. The Line is cloſed with Two Towers, adorned with Two Venetian Windows in Front, and Two Niches

Niches in Flank, fronting each other, where the noble Patron has prepar'd the Statues of Palladio and Jones, in Honour to an Art of which he is the Support and Ornament. In the next Plate you have the great Gate, adorned with 4 ½ Columns of the Dorick Order, 2 Feet Diameter, agreeable to the Colonade in the Court. In the laſt I have given the Plan and Elevation of the Caſina at Chiſwick, which is the Firſt Eſſay of his Lordſhip's happy Invention, Anno 1717.

Houghton from p. 27, to p. 34, incluſive,

IN Norfolk, the Seat of the Right Honourable Robert Walpole, Eſquire, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and firſt Commiſſioner of his Majeſty's Treaſury, of which I have made Two double, and Four ſingle, Plates. In the Firſt you have a Plan of the Gardens and Plantations, which are very large and beautiful. In the Subſequent are all the Deſigns of my Invention; Firſt, the general Plan and Front of the Houſe and Offices, extending 450 Feet. The Firſt ſingle Plate contains the Plans of the principal and Attick Story: The great Hall is a Cube of 40 Feet, the Salon 40 by 30 Feet, and 30 Feet high, and all the other Rooms in the Four great Apartments, are 18 Feet high, the Attick Story 12 Feet, and the Ruſtick Story the ſame, all above Ground, under which is an intire Story of Cellars, all arched. In the Second Plate I have given the Front to the great Entrance, extending 166 Feet, lying open to the Park. The Baſement is ruſtick, and I have alſo ruſticated the Windows and Door-Caſe in the principal Story; the Building is finiſhed with Two Towers, dreſs'd with Two ruſtick Venetian Windows. In the next Plate is the Front to the Garden, with a regular Portico Tetraſtile Ionick, the Columns 3 Feet ½ Diameter. In this Front the Windows of the principal Story are dreſs'd without Ruſticks. The laſt Plate is the Section of the great Hall, all in Stone, the moſt beautiful in England; the whole Building is Stone, and, without pretending to excuſe any ſeeming, or real Defects, I believe, it will be allowed to be a Houſe of State and Conveniency, and, in ſome Degree, worthy of the great and generous Patron. Anno 1722.

Mereworth Caſtle, p. 35, 36, 37, 38.

IN Kent, the Seat of the Honourable John Fane, Eſquire, contained in One double, and Two ſingle, Plates. In the double Plate you have Three Plans of the Ground Story, the principal and Attick: The Ground Story extends 220 by 120 Feet, all arched, and 12 Feet high. In the Middle is a circular Veſtibule 34 Feet Diameter, turned with one bold Arch, illuminated by Two Windows at each End of the Traverſe Paſſage, and by Night one Lanthorn, ſuſpended from the Key Stone of this great Arch, lights into Twenty diſtinct Rooms. The Aſcent is 12 Feet high to the principal Story, being, by Two Flights of Steps, 42 Feet broad; the Square of the Houſe is 88 Feet; but including the Four Porticoes 120 Feet. As the Rooms of this Story are of various Extents, ſo is the Height: The Two Rooms in Front being 35 Feet by 20 Feet, and the great Gallery in the oppoſite Front 82 Feet by 20 Feet, are 22 Feet ½ high, and coved ½: The Side Rooms, conſiſting of Two Bed Chambers 22 Feet by 20 Feet, and Two dreſſing Rooms 14 Feet by 20 Feet, are only 15 Feet high, not coved; ſo that the Entablature of all theſe Rooms is of the ſame Height. Over the Rooms not coved, and under the Attick Story, are Mezonins for Servants, and other Conveniencies: The Circular Salon in the Center is 35 Feet Diameter, and 60 Feet high, receiving Light by Four large circular Windows in the Dome, which is finiſhed in Stucco, with Compartments much after the Manner of the Ritonda. The Ornaments are executed by Signor Bagutti, a moſt ingenious Artiſt. The Aſcent to the Attick Story is by Two circular Stair-Caſes, landing in a Poggio, round the great Salon, which leads into all the Apartments of this Floor, being 12 Feet high, and the Plan will ſufficiently deſcribe the reſt. The Firſt ſingle Plate contains the North Front: The Four Porticoes are all the ſame, being Hexaſtile, Buſtile: The Column Ionick 2 Feet ½ Diameter; a juſt Entablature ſurrounds the whole Building, with the proper Members inriched. In the laſt Plate is the Section from North to South, extending 220 Feet. I ſhall not pretend to ſay, That I have made any Improvements in this Plan from that of Palladio, for Signor Almerico; but ſhall only obſerve the Alterations, which I humbly ſubmit to my learned Judges: The new Plan is much enlarged, and the Ground Story intirely different. In Palladio the Veſtibule is ſupported by Four Pires in the Middle, without any Light. In the principal Story are Four large, and Four ſmall, Rooms, but no Gallery, nor large Bed-Chambers: The Four Porticoes are flanked with a Wall, which are intirely open in this. In the Firſt the Stair Caſes are Triangular, which puts the Doors at unequal Diſtances. In this the Stair-Caſes, being circular, brings the Doors to anſwer the Two diagonal Lines. In the Firſt there are but Four Chimneys, which are brought up by Four Obelisks on the Outſide Walls. The Dome is a Semi-circular Octogon covered with Red Pantiles, ſupported by Carpentry. The Columns in the Porticoes are Brick-work covered with Stucco. The Entablature of Wood, and all the other Ornaments are in Stucco. This Dome conſiſts of Three Shells: The Firſt is Carpentry with Stucco, which forms the Cieling of the Salon. The Outward is alſo Carpentry, covered with Lead, but of a particular Contourn: Between theſe Two Shells, there is a ſtrong Brick Arch, that brings 24 Funnels to the Lanthorn, which is finiſhed with a Copper Callot, without any Injury to the Smoke, which was not the leaſt difficult Part of the Deſign. And, if I may add the great Difference, both of Dreſs and Materials, the whole ornamental Parts being of Portland Stone; and as much inriched, as the Rules of our Art can admit. And here I am, in Juſtice, to acknowledge the Faults as only chargeable to me; for never Architect had a more beneficent and liberal Patron, where neither Ignorance, Caprice, or Covetouſneſs, had any Part. Here nothing was wanting for Strength, Conveniency, or Ornament. Under ſuch uncommon Encouragement, I have uſed my utmoſt Endeavours; but, Humanum eſt labi; It is the beſt Houſe that has feweſt Faults: And if it gives Satisfaction to the Honourable and Worthy Owner, I have my End. This Houſe was covered in Anno 1723.

Wanſtead, p. 39, 40.

IN Eſſex, the Seat of the Right Honourable the Lord Viſcount Caſtlemain. I have given the Plan, Elevation, and Section, of this great Houſe in my firſt Volume, which I ſhall not reſume here, but only give the Front with the Addition of the new Towers, which I deſigned. Anno 1720.

Stourhead Caſtle, p. 41, 42, 43.

IN Wiltſhire, the Seat of Henry Hoare, Eſquire, in Three ſingle Plates. In the firſt I have given the Original Plan, as deſigned by me, and as altered in the Execution. The Difference lies in changing the Portico into 4 ½ Columns, tranſpoſing Two back Stair-Caſes, and contracting one Front Room, and Two Side Rooms. The Second Plate gives the Front to the Court, extending 82 Feet, the ruſtick ruſtick Baſement ſupports a regular Tetraſtile, Euſtile, of the Compoſed Order, the Columns 2 Feet ½ Diameter, with a juſt Entablature and Balluſtrade round the whole Edifice. This Front gives a very beautiful and extenſive Proſpect over the rich Vale of Dorſetſhire, Eaſt and South, and is protected from the North by high Mountains, covered with Downs. The laſt is the Garden Front South, extending 92 Feet, where the Windows of the principal Story are ruſticated, as well as the Baſement. The whole Building is caſed with Stone, and was covered in Anno 1722.

The Rolls, p. 44, 45.

IN Chancery Lane, I built by a Royal Gift from our moſt gracious Sovereign King GEORGE, to Sir Joſeph Jekyll, preſent Maſter of the Rolls. The Firſt Plate gives the Plans of the Firſt and Second Stories, extending 80 by 60 Feet. The great Cauſe-Room is 42 by 30 Feet, including the Colonade, and 28 Feet high. The Second Plate gives the Front to the Court. All the Ornaments are of Portland Stone, and was built Anno 1718.

Newby, p. 46.

IN the North-Riding of Yorkſhire, the Seat of Sir William Robinſon, Baronet, in a chearful and healthy Situation. At the Diſtance of 100 Yards, the Swale forms a perpetual Caſcade 150 Feet broad, abounding in excellent Salmon, and all Sorts of River Fiſh. Of this Deſign of my Invention, I have made one ſingle Plate, containing the Plans of the Firſt and Second Stories in a Square of 76 Feet. The Salon is a Cube of 30 Feet. The Firſt Story is 15 Feet high, and the Attick 12 Feet. The Front is adorned with a Tetraſtile, Euſtile, Ionick ¾ Columns 3 Feet Diameter, with a regular Entablature and Balluſtrade round the Building, which is all Stone. There are alſo Two large Wings for Offices, joined to the Houſe by an Arcade, and was covered Anno 1721.

Ebberton Lodge, 47.

IN Yorkſhire, near Scarborough, belonging to William Thompſon, Eſquire, about Three Miles from his principal Seat. This ſmall ruſtick Edifice ſtands in a fine Park well planted, with a River, which forms a Caſcade and Canal 1200 Feet long, and runs under the Loggio in the back Front.

Lord Herbert's Houſe in Whitehall, p. 48.

IN one ſingle Plate I have given the Plans of the Principal and Attick Stories, with the Front next to the Banquetting Houſe. In the Baſement is a ruſtick Arcade, and over it, an Ionick Loggio and Attick. The Gallery of the laſt Story is moſt magnificently finiſhed, and gives one of the beſt Proſpects of the Thames. Anno 1724.

Hall-Barn, p. 49, 50.

NEAR Beconſfield, in Bucks, the Seat of Edmond Waller, Eſquire, a Place for ever famous, by the Deathleſs Poems of the great Waller, Grandfather to this learned and worthy Gentleman. This new Building, of my Invention, ſtands fronting a great Canal 200 Feet broad, and 1200 Feet long, leaving a Terras of 50 Feet between them: In Two ſingle Plates. The Firſt gives the Plan and Elevation of the Whole. The great Room is 30 Feet in Front, 30 Feet high, 45 Feet in Depth, coved ¼. The Side Rooms are Cubes of 12 Feet, with a Cloſet to each. In the Second Plate is the Section of the great Room, expreſſing the Manner of finiſhing, and Form of the Ceiling. The Two Niches are to be filled with the Statues of Homer and Virgil: The Circles over them, with the Buſtos of Milton and Addiſon, and Mr. Waller over the Chimney-Piece. I believe it will be no eaſy Matter to make out ſuch another Quinquevirate. This Building was begun and covered in Anno 1724.

Goodwood, p. 51, 52, 53, 54.

IN Suſſex, the Seat of his Grace the Duke of Richmond and Lenox, Three Miles from Chicheſter, in the moſt agreeable Part of the County. I have made One double, and Two ſingle Plates. The firſt contains a Plan of the Park, Gardens, and Plantations, which, for the beautiful Variety and Extenſion of Proſpect, ſpacious Lawns, Sweetneſs of Herbage, delicate Veniſon, excellent Fruit, thriving Plantations, lofty and awful Trees, is inferior to none. The great Improvements Mr. Carné has made in this delightful Place, will be laſting Monuments of his Art and Induſtry, and Carné's Oaks ſhall never be forgot. This Park has an eaſy Deſcent to the Eaſt, South, and South-weſt, with the Proſpect of a rich and beautiful Landskip, bounded by the Sea for 30 Miles in Sight. The Iſle of Wight terminates the South-weſt Proſpect, and the famous St. Rook's Hill covers it from the North. I have given the following Deſigns of my Invention in Two ſingle Plates. In the Firſt the general Plan of the principal Story and general Front, extending 305 Feet: The Body of the Houſe 125 by 105 Feet: The circular Salon is 40 Feet in Diameter, and 60 Feet high, illuminated by a vertical Light 10 Feet in Diameter. The Room next the Portico is 40 by 24 Feet: The Two Side Rooms 36 by 24 Feet: All 24 Feet high, and coved ¼. The Bed-Chambers are 24 Feet ſquare, beſides the Alcoves for the Beds: The Dreſſing Rooms 24 by 18 Feet: The Cabinets 24 by 16 Feet: The Antichambers 24 Feet ſquare: The Veſtibule 32 by 24 Feet, in a Gradation of various Proportions, and all theſe are only 16 Feet high, without any Coving, with Mezonins between them and the Attick Story. The Two circular Stair-Caſes are 12 Feet in Diameter, and land in a Poggio round the Salon, that ſerves all the Apartments above, which are 15 Feet high, and coved ¼. The Two Pavilions are 75 by 50 Feet, the Firſt Story is 12 Feet, and the Second is 10 Feet, high, excepting the Kitchin, which takes in both. Theſe Pavilions are laid out in convenient Offices, and are joined to the Houſe by Two Colonades of the Dorick Order, with incloſed Paſſages behind them. In the laſt Plate is the Weſt Front, adorned with an Ionick Portico, Hexaſtile, Euſtile. The Columns are 2 Feet ½ in Diameter. All the Ornaments are of Portland Stone, and the reſt of Brick-work, covered with Stucco. The ſhining Qualities, and ſingular Endowments, of this illuſtrious Peer, is too great a Subject for me to attempt, when the moſt ſkilful Panegyriſt will find it too much. I ſhall only labour, with the utmoſt Zeal, as an Architect, to do ſomething not unworthy ſo good, ſo great, and ſo generous a Patron.

Mr. Plumptre's Houſe, p. 55.

IN Nottingham Town. In One ſingle Plate I have given the Plan of the Firſt Story and Elevation, extending 80 Feet. The Baſement is 5 Feet above Ground, which gives Light to the Offices. The Windows in the Firſt Story are ruſticated: In the Second they are dreſs'd with Pediments, and a circular Window in the Middle. The Attick Windows are ſquare, and the whole is finiſhed with a regular Cornice and Balluſtrade. All the Ornaments are of very good Stone, and the reſt of Brick-work, covered with Stucco. The back Part of this Houſe is antient. The Front gives a Proſpect of the Trent: But the Humanity, and Generoſity of this learned Gentleman, are, above all, to be recorded. It was built, Anno 1724.

A new Deſign for a Bridge at Lambeth. p. 56.

THE Honourable Houſe of Commons having named a Committee to receive Plans and Propoſals for ſo uſeful a Project, the Right Honourable William Poultney was choſe Chairman, who was pleaſed to command me to prepare a Deſign, with the Approbation of the Earl of Burlington. His Lordſhip was not only pleaſed to countenance my Architectonical Labours, but out of his ſuperabundant Goodneſs, did procure the Judgment and Approbation of our ableſt Mathematicians. Dr. Halley, Dr. Arbuthnot, and ſeveral others, were unanimouſly of Opinion, that this Plan would be no Obſtruction to the Navigation of the River, nor any Prejudice to the adjacent Property, which were the pretended Objections of ſome who were no Well-wiſhers to the Bridge, for other Reaſons. And to put this in a true Light, I ſhall give the Dimenſions of the old and new Bridge. The Extent of London-Bridge is 850 Feet, of which 450 Feet for the Water-courſe above the Starlings in the 19 Arches, and 200 Feet Water-courſe below the Starlings: The 18 Solids make 400 Feet. The new Bridge is 770 Feet long: The preſent Channel 727 Feet, to be inlarged 43 Feet: The Water-courſes by 7 Arches 650 Feet above the Starlings, and 608 Feet below them: The 6 Solids 120 Feet, from which ſubtract 43 Feet added to the River, the Remainder is 77 Feet, being $\frac{1}{10}$ of 770 Feet. The Water-courſe in the old Bridge above the Starlings, is as 9 to 8 Feet, being 450 to 400 Feet Solid. The Water-courſe below the Starlings, as 4 to 13 Feet, being 200 to 650 Feet Solid; ſo that the greateſt Water-courſe in the old Bridge, is 450 Feet, in the new 650 Feet. In the old Bridge below the Starlings 200 Feet, in the new Bridge 608 Feet. In this new Plan I have made 5 Arches, each 100 Feet Diameter, and the Two extream Arches have 75 Feet, the Radius being $\frac{3}{4}$ of the ſame, the Pires have 20 Feet, each being $\frac{1}{5}$. The Breadth of this Bridge is 50 Feet, beſides the Triangular Butments. The Middle Cauſe-way is 30 Feet broad, for Coaches and Carriages. Of each Side is a good Pavement, raiſed 1 Foot higher for Foot-People, and 10 Feet broad, including the Parapet. The Ornaments are ruſtick and ſtrong, with Two Towers at each End. This Subject is intirely omitted by our Father Vitruvius: And Leon Baptiſt Albert is the Firſt Architect to whom we are indebted for any Inſtruction, in the Eighth Book of his Architecture. In the Works of Antiquity, we find a great Diverſity in the Proportion of theſe Pires and Arches. In that at Rimini, by Auguſtus, the Arches are Semi-circular 25 Feet Diameter, and the Pires 11 Feet: That at Vicenza, over the Bachiglione, has Three Arches, the Middle one is 30 Feet in Diameter, the Radius $\frac{1}{2}$: The Side Arches are 22 Feet $\frac{1}{2}$, and the Pires are 5 Feet, being $\frac{1}{6}$. That at Vicenza, over the Rorone, has alſo 3 Arches, the Middle is 29 Feet, and the Side Arches 25 Feet, and the Pires 5 Feet. In the Pons Senatorius at Rome, the Arches are Semi-circular, the Pires $\frac{1}{7}$, without any Impoſt at ſpringing the Arch. That of St. Angelo, formerly the Pons Ælius, the moſt magnificent in all Rome, whoſe very Ruins raiſe Veneration; the Pire is $\frac{1}{5}$ of the Arch, which is Semi-circular. In that de Quatro Capi, anciently the Pons Tarpeius, the Pire is $\frac{1}{3}$ of the Arch alſo Semi-circular. The laſt is a few Miles above Rome, formerly the Pons Milvius, now called Ponte Mole, the Pire is $\frac{1}{4}$ of the Arch, which is Semi-circular. After this Variety in the Works of Antiquity, I ſhall mention but one of Palladio, Lib. 3. Cap. 14. with Three Arches; that in the Middle has 60 Feet in Diameter, the Sides 48 Feet, their Riſe is $\frac{1}{2}$: The Pires have 12 Feet, being $\frac{1}{5}$ of the great Arch. Upon this Proportion I have formed my Deſign, and I think I can conclude with no greater Authority.

Wilton, p. 57, 58, 59, 60.

IN Wiltſhire, the Seat of the Right Honourable the Earl of Pembroke and Montgomery. I have made Two double Plates in Perſpective, and having ſaid ſo much in the Second Volume, with Reſpect to the Building, I ſhall add nothing here.

Apple Dorecombe, p. 61.

IN the Iſle of Wight, in the County of Southampton, the Seat of Sir Robert Worſley, Baronet. I have made One Plate in Perſpective of this Houſe, which is adorned with a Corinthian Pillaſtrade; the Wings have Pedements, and the middle Part is finiſhed with an Attick. The whole is caſed with Portland Stone, and was built, Anno 1710.

High Meadow, p. 62.

IN Glouceſterſhire, the Seat of the Right Honourable the Lord Viſcount Gage. Having publiſhed the Plans and Elevation of this Houſe to the Court, in my Second Volume, I have in this Plate given the Garden Front in Perſpective.

Long Leate, p. 63, 64, 65, 66.

IN Wiltſhire, the Seat of the Right Honourable the Lord Viſcount Weymouth. In my Second Volume I have repreſented the Plans and Elevation, and in this are Two double Plates. The Firſt gives the Geometrical Plans of the Gardens and Plantations, which were executed with great Expence by the late Lord. They are of large Extent, adorned with Statues, Fountains, Cascades, and many other Decorations. The Gardens were laid out by the late Mr. London. The Second double Plate is a Repreſentation in Perſpective of the Principal and Garden Front.

Chatſworth, p. 67, 68.

IN Derbyſhire, the Seat of his Grace the Duke of Devonſhire. In my Firſt Volume I have given Three Plans, and Two Elevations of this magnificent Palace, and in this I have given theſe Two Fronts in Perſpective in One double Plate.

Belton, p. 69, 70.

IN Lincolnſhire, the Seat of the Right Honourable the Lord Viſcount Tyrconnel. In my Second Volume I publiſhed the Plan and Elevation of this Houſe, and in this I have made Two Plates. In the Firſt, the Geometrical Plan of the Gardens and Plantations, which are very beautiful and improving. In the Second Plate is the Houſe in Perſpective.

Woodſtock Park, p. 71, 72.

IN Oxfordſhire, the Seat of her Grace the Dutcheſs of Marlborough. Having given the various Plans and Elevations of this ſtupendious Fabrick in my Firſt Volume, I have here given an exact Geometrical Plan of the Park, Gardens, and Plantations, which are of very great Extent. The Table of References will explain the whole.

Boughton, p. 73, 74.

IN Northamptonſhire, the Seat of his Grace the Duke of Montagu. The Geometrical Plan of the Gardens and Plantations are expreſſed in One double Plate. They were formed by the late Duke, and improved by his preſent Grace, with ſo many Additions, that they are eſteemed now, the largeſt in England. The Particulars are to be taken from the Plan and Scale.

Hampton-

Hampton-Court, p. 75.

IN Herefordſhire, the Seat of the Right Honourable the Earl of Coningſby. In my Second Volume I have given the Plan and Elevation of this ancient Edifice, and in this, a Geometrical Plan of his Lordſhip's Gardens and Plantations, which are eſteemed very curious, and the large Decoy is remarkable.

Lowther-Hall, p. 76.

IN Weſtmoreland, the Seat of the Right Honourable the Lord Viſcount Lonſdale. Having publiſhed the Plans and Elevation of this Houſe in my Second Volume, I have here made a Geometrical Plan of the Gardens and Plantations.

Claremont, p. 77, 78.

IN Surrey, one of the Seats of his Grace the Duke of Newcaſtle. In One double Plate is a Geometrical Plan of the Gardens and Plantations, with ſeveral large Pieces of Water, which his Grace has finiſhed at a very great Expence. The Situation being ſingularly romantick, and from the high Tower has a moſt prodigious fine Proſpect of the Thames and the adjacent Villas.

Cholmondley, p. 79, 80.

IN Cheſhire, the Seat of the Right Honourable the Earl Cholmondley. In my Second Volume I have publiſhed the Plan and Three Fronts of this Houſe. Here in One double Plate I have given the Geometrical Plan of the Gardens and Plantations, which are very large and beautiful. This Noble Lord has ſpared no Expence to render them worthy of his Lordſhip's Name.

Thorsby, p. 81, 82.

IN Nottinghamſhire, the Seat of his Grace the Duke of Kingſton. In my firſt Volume I have alſo given the Plan and Elevation of this Houſe, and in this Plate you have a Plan of the Gardens and Plantations. Here is a fine Parterre, a Canal, Caſcade, and Lake, formed by a River. The Park is of great Extent, being about Ten Miles round, with all manner of Conveniencies worthy of ſo Noble a Patron.

Althrop, p. 83, 84.

IN Northamptonſhire, the Seat of the Right Honourable the Earl of Sunderland. In my Second Volume I gave the Plan and Elevation of this Houſe, and in this, I have given a View in Perſpective of the ſame, in One double Plate.

Duncomb-Park, p. 85, 86, 87, 88.

IN Yorkſhire, the Seat of Thomas Duncomb, Eſquire. Of this I have made Two double Plates: In the firſt is a General Plan, and General Front of the Houſe and Offices, extending 460 Feet, of which the Houſe is 150 Feet. The Baſement is plain, 10 Feet high, which ſupports a Tuſcan Portico Tetraſtile 4 Feet in Diameter, finiſhed with a Pedement, with an Entablature and Parapet round the whole Building. The Windows in the principal Story are Semi-circular, with Key Stones, without any Architraves: In the Attick Story they are ſquare. The Apartments are ſpacious, and the great Hall is very Noble. The whole Building is Stone. In the Second Plate is a large View in Perſpective of the ſame. All deſigned by William Wakefield, Eſq; Anno 1713.

Atherton, p. 89.

IN the County of Lancaſter, the Seat of Richard Atherton, Eſquire. In One ſingle Plate I have given the Plan of the principal Story and Front, extending 102 Feet. The ruſtick Baſement, 10 Feet high, ſupports, an Ionick, Tetraſtile, ¼ Columns, 3 Feet ½ in Diameter, with Two Pillaſters at the Corners. The Windows in the Principal and Attick Story, are dreſſed with an Architrave; and an Entablature and Parapet ſurrounds the whole Building. The Great Hall is very large, being 36 by 45 Feet, beſides ſeveral good Apartments. It was deſigned by William Wakefield, Eſq; Anno 1723.

Rookby Park, p. 90.

IN the County of York, the Seat of Thomas Robinſon, Eſquire. In one ſingle Plate, I have given the Plan of the Principal and Attick Story, with the Front, extending 96 Feet; the Ruſtick Baſement is 10 Feet high, and ſupports a Corinthian Ordonance, conſiſting of 4 ⅛ Columns, and 2 Pillaſters 3 Feet in Diameter. The Door and Windows in the principal Story are Semi-circular; the Attick is only over the middle Part of the Building, and has ſquare Windows, and concludes with an Entablature and Balluſtrade. The Apartments are convenient, as the Plan more fully expreſſeth. It is deſigned by William Wakefield, Eſq; Anno 1724.

Horſe-Heath Hall, p. 91, 92.

IN Cambridgſhire, the Seat of Henry Bromley, Eſq; In one double Plate, you have the general Plan of the principal Story, and general Front, extending 600 Feet, whereof the Houſe is 140. The Baſement is 9 Feet high, and the great Hall is 40 Feet in Front, and 48 deep, being in Height equal to the Firſt and Second Story, with a noble Gallery for Communication at the farther End. All the Apartments are very good, the Offices very ſpacious and commodious, the Windows in Two Stories are dreſſed with Architrave, Frize and Cornice. The whole was deſigned by Mr. Webb, about the Year 1669.

A New Houſe at Twickenham, p. 93.

IN Middleſex. This Houſe is ſituated very near the Thames, and has a good Proſpect of that beautiful River. In one ſingle Plate you have the Plans of the Firſt, Second, and Attick Story, with Two Fronts. All the Apartments in the different Stories, are diſtinctly figured in the Plans. The Salon is a Cube of 24 Feet, the Ornaments are of Portland Stone, and the reſt covered with Stucco. The Entablature goes round the whole Edifice, and the Roof is formed after the Palladian Manner. It was built Anno 1724.

Leyton-Grange, p. 94.

IN Eſſex, the Seat of David Ganſel, Eſq; deſigned and built by himſelf, with convenient Offices, Gardens and Plantations, of his own Invention. The Houſe is ſituated on a riſing Ground, with good Proſpects, in the Middle of a ſmall but pleaſant Park, well water'd. It was built Anno 1720.

Narford, p. 95.

IN Norfolk, the Seat of Sir Andrew Fountain. In One Plate I have given a Geometrical Plan of the Gardens and Plantations: This Learned and Ingenious Gentleman, as he is diſtinguiſhed by his univerſal Knowledge in all the Polite Arts, has given Marks of his good Taſte and Affection for Architecture, in ſeveral Pieces lately erected there.

Caverſham, p. 96, 97.

IN Oxfordſhire, the Seat of the Right Honourable the Earl of Cadogan. In One double Plate I have given a Geometrical Plan of the Park, Gardens, and Plantations of this magnificent Place. The Situation is very high, but the Aſcent ſo eaſy and gradual, that you riſe inſenſibly to it; where the Eye is entertained with moſt beautiful Proſpects; particularly that from the grand Terras, 1200 Feet long, towards Reading and the Thames. The Deſcent from this Terras to the Bottom of the Parterre, is 50 Feet perpendicular, by Two double Flights of Steps, all of Portland-Stone. The Parterre ſerre is nobly adorned with Fountains, Vaſes and Statues, particularly Four Originals in Statuary Marble, of King WILLIAM, King GEORGE, Duke of MARLBOROUGH, and Prince EUGENE, all ſo very like, that they are known at Sight; beſides many valuable ones, caſt from the beſt Antiques. Of each Side of the Parterre, are Two great Canals 900 Feet long, with a Dorick Portico at each End. From the great Iron Gates, to the End of the Park Pale, are Four beautiful Lawns, divided by Three Walks of very lofty Trees, 2200 Feet long, and the whole Park is well Wooded, Watered, and Plenty of Deer, a Pheaſantry, Menagerie, and all manner of Conveniencies. This Noble Lord, from a Place that could pretend to nothing but a Situation capable of Improvement, with vaſt Labour and Expence, has now rendered it one of the nobleſt Seats in the Kingdom. Theſe Gardens were form'd by Mr. Acres, where he has left laſting Monuments of his Capacity. Anno 1723.

P. 98, 99, 100.

OF this Deſign of my Invention, I have made one double and one ſingle Plate: The Firſt contains a general Plan of the principal Story and general Front, extending 250 Feet; That is 100 for the Houſe, 50 to each Side, and 25 Feet to each Wing, whereof one contains the Kitchin and all proper Offices, with a covered Communication to the Houſe, and a large Arch in the Middle for a Coach to land in rainy Weather. The other Wing makes one large Gallery 20 Feet broad, and 20 high, and 100 long; but the Two Ends are reduced to Cubes of 20 Feet, by introducing ſome Columns. The Ground Story is all arched, and is 3 Feet under Ground. The Baſement is 9 Feet high, which ſupports an Ionick Octaſtile, having 6 ¼ Columns, and 2 Corner Pillaſters 4 Feet in Diameter, finiſhed with a regular Entablature, and bold Pedement, which covers the whole Houſe. The Great Hall is a Cube of 40 Feet; The Salon is 40 by 24 Feet; The 4 Corner Rooms are Cubes of 24 Feet, and coved ⅛. Two Side-Rooms are 24 by 18, and Two are 20 by 18, all 16 Feet high, without coving, with Mezonins over them. The Attick Story is 15 Feet high, and coved ⅛; The Stair-caſes are lighted from the Top, and are only divided by Rails, without any Partition, which makes the Opening very noble above. The laſt ſingle Plate is a Section of the Hall, dreſſed with ¼ Columns of the Compoſed Order, and great Variety of proper Decorations, all in Stone, deſigned A. 1724.
